

IMPLEMENTING CHALLENGE BY CHOICE

This is Implementing Challenge by Choice – a workshop that will challenge your pre-conceived notions of Challenge by Choice (CbC).

The concept of CbC has been around for over 30 years since Project Adventure first coined the term. Many practitioners have faithfully applied this concept in their work to create an empowering experience in their activities. However are also constantly worried that their participants will one day say,

“Challenge by Choice... I choose not to attempt the challenge.”

What can we do to address this situation? Or what can be done to even prevent it from happening? What is true CbC?

At the end of this workshop, learners will be able to :

- Design activities with suitable challenges for different participant profiles.
- Include a range of choices suitable for participants in the conduct of activities;
- Encourage participation in the activity whilst honoring the participant's choice.

The intent of this 1-Day workshop is to share about the design considerations in activities in order to bring about CbC for the participants. It will be suitable for practitioners who regularly set challenging activities for participants in their programmes and would still like to offer them a range of choices.
